DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 11/13/2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

1. Claims 25-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Clark et al (US 5,713,853) as modified by Ding et al (US 6,364,856)

Claims 24, 25, 26, 27, and 40: Clark et al disclose in Figures 24-26 a medical device comprising a shaft (702); an initially cylindrically shaped delivery member (706); a therapeutic agent delivery lumen (710) connected to a therapeutic agent source; a retention member (704); and a therapeutic agent source being a syringe which is capable of applying negative pressure.

Clark et al disclose the claimed invention except for the delivery member being shaped in a continuous solid cylindrical configuration. Ding et al teach in Figures 2 and 3 that it is known to use a delivery member having a continuous solid cylindrical shape. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the device of Clark et al with a continuously solid delivery member, since such a structure would ensure maximum contact with the treatment area when the delivery member is in its expanded state.

Claims 28 and 29: Clark et al disclose in column 7, line 18-column 8, line 47 the delivery member being formed of a porous, degradable material.

Claims 30 and 31: Clark et al disclose in Figure 24 the delivery member configured to conform to the internal contour of the target body lumen when expanded.

Claims 32, 33, 34 and 35: Clark et al disclose in Figure 25 the proximal and distal ends of the delivery member being tapered end caps.

Claim 36: Clark et al disclose in column 14, line 2-4 the delivery member having a length between 5mm and 40 mm.

Claims 37, 38 and 39: Clark et al disclose in Figure 25 the shaft having a wire lumen for receiving a guidewire which extends into the delivery member.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 25-40 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
